It was quite a busy year for Larry Mason at Willow Springs International Raceway where he was instructing for Fast Lane Racing School. He was also tapped to write their weekly blog and create podcast content. These articles and interviews are on the raceschool.com website and the podcasts can also be found on Apple Podcasts and Spotify.

Getting back behind the wheel was definitely the highlight of the year and the Formula 4 and Radical race cars were a blast to drive. When not physically at the race track, Mason raced virtually on his simulator which proved to be a valuable addition to his race preparation. Of course, he also kept to a regular fitness regimen to be race ready at the drop of a hat. All-in-all a decent year, but hopefully 2022 will find Mason chasing more checkered flags on the race track!
