Finally! With the pandemic causing supply chain issues and helmet painters backed up with work, Larry Mason was finally able to take delivery of his brand-new Bell RS7 carbon fiber racing helmet. This helmet features the latest in safety, aerodynamics and vents for cooling the driver from Bell Racing. Additionally, the helmet has been wired with a microphone and the necessary jacks for earplugs.

Mason will be installing the Eject system which will be covered in the June newsletter and will also be featured in a video/audio blog on www.raceschool.com (blog & press).

“I’m really excited to have my new helmet. I’ve carried the same helmet design/logo for nearly my entire racing career. However this helmet features a very slight variation in the back where driver vital information is listed. This time we left that area bare carbon fiber with just a clear coat over it. It’s only visible from the rear of the helmet but it provides a glimpse into the incredible craftsmanship that this helmet provides. Not only that, but this helmet is much lighter than my previous one so it should also be more comfortable in longer races. I can’t wait to try it out on track!”

These photos show the craftsmanship and aerodynamics of Larry’s new Bell helmet.

Mason & Mason Judge Miss Diamond Bar Pageant

The last time the Masons judged this pageant was about a week before the world shut down due to the Coronavirus pandemic. After taking a three-year hiatus, the pageant was held again on March 5th.

Sonia has an extensive background in pageantry and has won or placed in the top 10 numerous times. Additionally, she has provided make-up services and other contestant coaching tips.

Larry has also been judging these events for many years and has also helped with both fitness and interview training skills that are essential to any contestant.

A strong field competed and as always only one can be crowned. At the end of the program Aayati Sangal was crowned Miss Diamond Bar 2023. Sonia remarked, “Larry and I were honored to help find the next Miss Diamond Bar and we wish Aayati and her court a year of personal growth and fun!”
